Q&A

Q: As a senior, I am told I am more at risk and I do not have any underlining issues. What does that mean? Even if I do not have any underlining medical conditions? If so, then why? Should I take more precautions to protect myself? What precautions should those me do to protect themselves and me?

A: As you age immune systems become less capable of fighting off viruses. There is a decline in all organ function, as we get older. Wash your hands and avoid touching you nose, mouth or eyes. The virus cannot penetrate your body through your hands it can only affect you if bring your hands in contact with a mucus membrane. No matter what age the older adult is they are high risk. More at risk by the age of 60. For underlining conditions, any illness you get will be more serious for you. Do your best to avoid social contact, congregations of people and keeping yourself at home. Protect yourself if you go outside and keep a safe six feet distance.

Q: My Aunt lives in a senior living center in Oxnard, I visit her every day to give her medications. Although there are safety measure in place, this comes at a high price. All visitors wear a mask, no social gatherings are allowed in the center I am concerned for my Aunt's emotional wellbeing. What can we do to support these communities with emotional issues during this time?

A: Seniors thrive being social people and having no contact with their family is a tremendous loss to the elderly. Relying on new technology could help like zoom, face time etc. In addition, caregivers that are working with these patients can help them use those devices. We must rely upon the technologies we have to keep our distance yet communicate. Family and friends are a great resource; even though you are separated, you can always call or write to the people that are in the facility.

Q: What about resources?

A: Elderly is most at risk using family and friends for a support system and the senior support line is available.

Q: If I did not receive a 2018 tax return with no refund and collects SSI with no direct deposit, will the treasury make the payment am I still eligible for the relief payment?

A: Yes, if you have direct deposit set up it will be automatically deposit into your account. If you do not a paper check will be issued. In addition, there is going to be a website so people can check their statuses. There is a number people can call to provide bank account information (Will post the number once Joyce Lippman gets ahold of it.)

Q: I am the sole caretaker of my wife who has bone cancer. Who do I call to help me if I fall ill?

A: Adult protective services can help and should start thinking about a long-term plan when things like this happens.

Q: Where does the elderly go for help regarding housekeeping, pharmacy or over the counter medication?

A: Homemaker services available by calling 211 or using shopping assistance programs.

Santa Barbara -1-800-510-2020 (direct way to get into the office)

Q: Why are people over 60 with diabetes at a higher risk?

A: Age and illness causes you to be higher risk. Organs start to decline as a person ages. Medication DOES NOT put you at higher risk =, continue to take your medication as directed. Underline conditions takes a toll on the immune system.

Q: What are ways to cope with stress? Unable to use rec centers and do regular exercise activities that I use to do.

A: The County is trying to find other ways the aging population can get regular activities. Development of activity kits in Santa Barbara and Ventura counties. Social workers are reaching out to provide meals. Walking outside is fine, it is very important to keep exercising. Keep the muscles active and good for stress relief. Exercising is so important to the senior population it will help immune system, stress relief. It is extremely important for your health.

Q: Are there or will there be any legal protection for the disabled regarding evictions or unlawful detainer action? Particularly applicable protections, which may not have been caused by COVID-19 pandemic, which could cause health and safety, risk to a class of persons particularly vulnerable.

A: Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors recently passed an ordinance to prevent evictions until May 31, 2020.

Ventura County has an executive order as well. Property owners cannot evict tenants of nonpayment of rent and law enforcement cannot remove property.

Q: I have a homeless and mentally ill brother. My husband is 70 and is concerned about taking anyone in during this pandemic. Is there immediate housing in Ventura or Santa Barbara County for him? He needs his own place and will not stay in a shelter.

A: A homeless shelter may be the quickest help. The current low cost housing is multiple years on a waiting list. If the brother is high risk, Ventura County can place him in a hotel if he meets the criteria.

In addition, if someone rents a room they may be covered under the eviction ordinance.
